

CAW 1016 – NAV CANADA Classification Project
Communication Bulletin June 9, 2009

The joint union – employer classification system initiative is in the very final development stages. The working group met late in May and there are on-going discussions respecting the final design framework and transition model. The group is endeavouring to complete these discussions by the end of June. However, if the team is unsuccessful, a third party / arbitrator will be brought in to conclude the work as provided for in the language of the Classification Letter of Understanding which forms part of the current collective agreement.

Further updates will be provided by the end of June.
